BIG FOUR GIVES AID TO KOLCHAK-DENIKINE FORCES

Must Accept League as Governing Questions of All Frontiers.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Paris, May 26.—The council of four has decided conditionally to recognize the anti-bolshevik governments of Admiral Kolchak and General Denikine, according to Reuters agency here. The conditions for the recognition are that, regarding the future of Russia, these governments agree to convoke and accept the verdict of a genuine constituent assembly; likewise that the league of nations covenant and its consequences as affecting the boundaries of the former empire are accepted. The constituent assembly is to determine the future form of government for Russia.

TO RE-ESTABLISH INDUSTRY.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Omsk, Tuesday, May 20.—(Delayed)—Admiral Kolchak, head of the all-Russian government, has returned from Ekaterinburg, where he presided at a conference of manufacturers, peasants and industrial organizations in the Ural district. He assured them that the government would help rehabilitate industries and transportation facilities.

Guarantees were given a Jewish delegation that the rights of Jews would be safeguarded and several Jewish organizations expressed confidence in the government, sending cash donations for the army. Admiral Kolchak outlined the proposed land reform legislation which would guarantee peasants the tenure of land which they till and increase the number of land holders by a large percentage in many districts. The land policy of the government contemplates the parceling out of government lands and the sub-division of private estates on the basis of a fair compensation to the owners from the government treasury.

WILSON OBJECTED TO PUBLISHING TEXT OF TREATY GIVEN ENEMY

Afraid of Discussion at Home During Absence, Paris Paper Says.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Paris, May 26.—(Havas)—The Echo de Paris today declares that it was on the request of President Wilson that the heads of the allied and associated powers have declined to permit publication of the full text of the German peace treaty. President Wilson, adds the newspaper, "foresees inconvenience and risk in opening an important discussion in the United States in his absence."

Dispatches from American correspondents in Paris have stated that it was understood the chief opposition to making the treaty public came from Premier Lloyd George, although President Wilson later approved the British view. It was stated, however, that while Mr. Lloyd George was absent from Paris the week before last, the remaining government heads tentatively agreed to publication of the treaty, owing to the demands of the French chamber of deputies to see the document. When Lloyd George returned, he declined to approve the plan, and it was abandoned.

In the British house of commons on May 19, Andrew Bonar Law, the government leader, stated that the council of four, for reasons which could not be disclosed, considered publication of the full peace terms undesirable.

DIDN'T KNOW FATHER WAS ELECTED MAYOR

Mayor Mark D. Smith and family motored to Camp Grant yesterday and spent several hours visiting with their son, Private Walter Smith and with Privates Harold Spencer and Francis Kennen of this city. The three Dixon young men will be discharged from the service at the camp today and expect to arrive home this evening.

The mayor's son was unaware of the fact that his father had been elected mayor of Dixon, until the day he arrived in camp. Since the election he and his companions had been on the move the greater part of the time and have received very little if any mail.

Miss M. M. Winter went to Chicago today on business connected with her military commission.

SUICIDE ATTEMPT FOILED BY DIXON STOREKEEPERS

Steven Smudka Tried to Buy Poison or Revolver.

Steve Smudka, residing on East River street, created quite a sensation about the streets in the business part of town at about 1 o'clock this afternoon. He hurried into a drug store and asked for some kind of poison, announcing that he wanted to commit suicide. He was not particular about the brand of poison but wanted something the effects of which would be quick and certain.

When refused he rushed out of the door and hurried to a hardware store where he sought to purchase a revolver or gun with the same intention. About this time calls were being received at the police station in rapid succession and the members of the department hurried out to find the man.

He was finally located at the home of his brother, Ben Smudka, on East River street, where he also resides. He claimed to be discouraged over the fact that he could not secure passports to return to Hungary to visit his aged father and other members of his family and asked one of the police officers to provide a rope in order that his mental suffering might be ended. His brother finally consented to watch him and prevent any attempt at self-destruction. Smudka was arrested and convicted of bootlegging last fall and when sentenced to the county jail, threatened to take his life.

ENGLAND IS HAPPY OVER RESCUE OF AVIATOR HAWKER

Daring Flyer and His Pilot Are Picked Up By Steamer.

By Associated Press Leased Wire London, Sunday, May 25.—(Delayed)—There was a merry party in the home of Harry G. Hawker, near Surbiton tonight, many callers, including Thomas O. M. Sopwith, head of the Sopwith Aviation company, builders of the machine in which Hawker attempted to cross the Atlantic, going to the house to congratulate Mrs. Hawker. Many air-men were among those who called.

Mrs. Hawker never lost confidence that her husband would be rescued. Even on Saturday evening, she was still hopeful, declared that Sunday was her lucky day, and said: "We shall have good news tomorrow." Today her home was inundated with telegrams of congratulations and the telephone in the daily belaguered dwelling was constantly ringing.

King Expresses Sympathy

The king's sympathy and condolence, King George on Saturday expressed his fear that Hawker had lost his life. He added: "I feel that the nation has lost one of its most able and daring pilots and that he sacrificed his life for the fame and honor of British flying."

An official statement confirming news dispatches of the rescue of Hawker and Lieutenant Commander Mackenzie Grieve was issued tonight. It said: "Harry G. Hawker and Lieutenant Commander Grieve were rescued in latitude 59 degrees and 30 minutes north and longitude 29 degrees 30 minutes west. They alighted close to a steamer owing to a defect in the water circulation of their motor. Both men are in perfect health. The airplane was not saved."

PVT. HORACE ORTT WAS CITED BY GEN. TODD FOR BRAVERY

Honor Paid to Dixon Boy Who Was Killed in Action.

R. K. Ortt of this city has received notice from Lt. H. H. Bergh, commander of Battery C, 123rd Field Artillery, that his son, Private Horace K. Ortt, the only member of Co. G who was killed in action in France, was cited for extraordinary heroism and distinguished service in active operations of the regiment, the citation being made by command of Brigadier General Todd on Dec. 31, 1918, at Stenay, France. The Distinguished Service Citation comes posthumously to the parents of the deceased soldier, and is in recognition of his heroism in the Meuse-Argonne offensive in which he gave his life.

Copies of the official order citing the Dixon soldier are accompanied by the following letter from Lt. Bergh to Mr. Ortt: "My Dear Mr. Ortt:—It is with a great deal of pride that I am enclosing you herewith official extracts of General Orders No. 21, published by Headquarters 5th P. A. Brigade, covering the citation of your son, Private Horace K. Ortt, for extraordinary heroism during active operations of this Brigade and particularly of this regiment during the Meuse-Argonne offensive."

The final act of his life was characteristic of his whole attitude during his service as a soldier; his was always a cheerful obedience to all orders, and a ready willingness to offer himself for any and all duties, no matter how dangerous, how irksome or how arduous. He exemplified the true spirit and morale of the real soldier, a spirit and morale as has made the American army invincible.

I speak not only for myself, but for every officer and man in this battery, when I tell you how proud we are of him.

BOOTLEGGERS TO BE ARRAIGNED TUESDAY

The judge will resume the bench again at 2:30 in the afternoon when the counts against Mr. Emma Pottee, colored, will be aired. Both of the defendants are former residents in the vicinity of the Sandusky cement plant.

THOUGHT, FEELING, AND UTTERANCE SUBJECT OF BACCALAUREATE

Dr. F. D. Altman Gave Address to D. H. S. Graduates.

St. Paul's Lutheran church, where the baccalaureate service for the fifty-two graduates of the Dixon high school was given last evening, had an overflow audience. Chairs were put in every available space, the pulpit platform was even filled, and still all the crowd could not be accommodated. Dr. Altman, the pastor, gave an exceptional address on "The Divine Order," and the musical part of the program was very attractive.

Miss Coppins gave an organ prelude which seemed specially appropriate to the service, the orchestra, under the direction of Earl Sennett played beautifully, and the girls' glee club of the high school of twenty voices sang very pleasingly. Another pleasing number was the duet by Miss Marjorie Slothower and Miss Ione Scott. The beautiful anthem, "Fear Not Ye, Oh Israel," was ably rendered by the choir, under the direction of Mrs. Elbert M. Goodsell. The Y. M. C. A. quartet, composed of Messrs. Dorman Anderson, Elmer Rice, Charles Anderson and John Ives, made their first public appearance as a musical entity and rendered most harmoniously "Still, Still With Thee," by Gerrish. The national anthem, "The Star Spangled Banner," closed the service, following appropriately the patriotic remarks by Dr. Altman in reference to the general Memorial service held all over the country.

A very pretty feature of that part of the service in reference to Memorial day was the presentation of some beautiful pink roses, part to Mrs. J. W. Cortright in memory of her son, Vernon, who was a member of the class but died during the past year shortly after enlisting in the Student Army Training Corps, and the other part to Mrs. F. D. EQUAL SUFFRAGE OPPONENTS BEAT PLANS FOR VOTE

Issue Put Over Until Tuesday Following Warm Debate.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, May 26.—New efforts to expedite a vote in the senate today on the woman suffrage constitutional amendment resolution were defeated. By parliamentary tactics opponents of the measure succeeded after two hours in postponing action until tomorrow.

After numerous roll calls and other obstruction, the motion to discharge the suffrage committee from considering the house suffrage resolution was set aside under the rules for renewal of debate on the resolution of Senator Johnson, requesting a copy of the peace treaty with Germany.

An effort to expedite a vote on the woman suffrage constitutional amendment adopted by the house last week, was made in the senate today after republican senators at a committee conference had pledged prompt action.

Senator Watson of Indiana, chairman of the woman suffrage committee, called up the motion of Senator Jones, republican of Washington, that the resolution be placed on the calendar. Watson said he would like to have a final vote on the resolution before adjournment.

Southern democrats opposed hasty action. Senator Underwood of Alabama, said the resolution was "sent through" the house with no lengthy consideration and that the senate should act in an orderly manner on a subject of such importance. A motion to table the motion of Senator Jones was defeated 64 to 27 and Senator Smith, democrat, of Georgia, resorted to parliamentary tactics to permit further debate.

Vote on the motion was preceded by a parliamentary tangle in which Senator Smoot, republican, of Utah, called for the regular order. Vice President Marshall, however, decided all questions in favor of the suffrage supporters.

U. S. IS AWARDED 700,000 TONS OF GERMAN SHIPPING

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, May 26.—President Wilson has informed officials here that the council of four at Paris has reached a full understanding by which the United States will retain the 700,000 tons of German shipping seized in American ports when this country entered the war.

Great Britain has proposed that this tonnage as well as German ships seized in other countries be placed in a common pool and allotted on the basis of tonnage lost through enemy submarines. The United States has steadfastly refused this plan.

CO. G MAY LEAVE EAST FOR HOME MONDAY, JUNE 2

Dixon Committee Met Local Boy at Camp Mills.

(By John H. Byers, Staff Correspondent.) New York, May 25.—The 123rd Field Artillery, including former Company G of Dixon, docked at Hoboken at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and within a short time after the America docked the boys were taken by ferry across the Hudson and entrained for Camp Mills, where they arrived at 8 o'clock.

The Dixon committee spent Sunday at Camp Mills, where they found all the Dixon men in good health and spirits. The following men from Dixon and vicinity were seen by Attorney Dixon, Capt. Preston and myself:

Saw Some Dixon Men. Capt. Lewis, McCarty, Blackburn, Phalen, Fordyce, Brooks, Wilson, Connors, Martin, Reinhardt, Bennett, Beagard, Hutchinson, Huggins, Harvey, Bott, Truchell, Graft, Kelly, Hunter, Marks, Ira Lewis, Nunemaker, Roy Smith, Kelly, Conkley, Barry, Smith, Summers, Stephan, Gilman, Hardesty, Rosbrook, Arbogast, Cramer, McGrath. Other Dixon men who had reported at the camp, but whom the committee was unable to find today were: Crapo, McPherson, Mill, McCoy, Bowers and Lett.

$5 to Each Man. Each man was given $5 from the fund sent on by the Lee county Red Cross, and similar amounts were left with Sgt. John Kelly for the men not found. The boys were glad to get the money, as most of them were "broke."

Given 24 Hours Leave. The boys will be deloused Monday and will then be given 24-hour leaves of absence with permission to visit New York.

In Chicago June 4. Their leaving time for home is uncertain, but the best present information is that they will leave Camp Mills about June 2, in which case they would arrive in Chicago on the morning of Wednesday, June 4, parading in that city and then going to Camp Grant that evening.

Governor Lowden arrived in camp at 10 o'clock this morning and inspected the men. During his stay the regimental band, of which Morris Rosbrook of Dixon is a member, gave a concert in his honor.

DIXON MEN ARE IN FOUR DIFFERENT BATTERIES.

A telegram received from Henry S. Dixon, who with Capt. Preston and John H. Byers, is in New York to attend to receiving the boys of old Company G properly, is to the effect that the Dixon men are in four different batteries, and because of this fact it may be difficult to get them all home together.

However, Mr. Dixon has had several conferences with Capt. Lloyd Lewis (who, by the way, was Second Lieutenant of Co. G when it marched out of Dixon two years ago last March, and who has won his promotion to a captaincy by his own efforts), and he has assured the Dixon men that he will do (Continued on page five.)

BUGGIES DAMAGED IN COLLISION HERE

Two buggies collided last evening about 7 o'clock on the cement road at the eastern city limits, the accident being purely accidental. A survey and a single rig coming from the Nachusa Orphanage figured in the collision. One of the buggies was driven by Ed Titus who is employed at the orphanage and the survey by one of the boys.

A part of the harness on the horse Titus was driving became entangled and the animal started to run. The wheels of both buggies locked, the occupants of the survey jumping out without receiving any serious injury. The Titus buggy was considerably damaged and the runaway horse received slight scratches when it fell to the pavement. Fortunately none of the occupants of either buggy were injured and all were able to proceed to Dixon and attend the services at St. Paul's Lutheran church.

TO NEW YORK TO BUY BLOODED STOCK

E. J. Countryman left yesterday for New York to attend the annual meeting and sale of the National Holstein-Friesian Breeders' association. E. M. Detweiler of Polo also left this morning to attend the national meeting and sale. Some of the pure-bred stock offered at this sale may be purchased by the representatives who have gone from Dixon, both of whom are members of the Tri-County Breeders' Sales company and are among the leading Holstein breeders of the state.

FARRAND TO FREEPORT.

Judge R. S. Farrand, of this city, will convene the June term of the Stephenson County Circuit court at Freeport next Monday June 2. The term promises to be a very busy one, according to the Freeport papers.

Carl Shade of Ashton was a business caller in Dixon this morning.

REV. SIMPSON SPOKE OF DEPARTED HEROES AT MEMORIAL SERVICE

Members of Patriotic Organizations Attended Services.

The Presbyterian church was filled to capacity last evening in tribute to the deceased soldiers, sailors and marines of the nation, the occasion being the annual Memorial Sunday service. The members of the G. A. R., W. R. C., Ladies of the G. A. R., U. S. W. V., and their auxiliary and Co. F. were guests of honor and thoroughly enjoyed the service, the feature of which was the address by Rev. Simpson, pastor of the Baptist church.

Rev. Simpson's Address.
Rev. Simpson took his text from Timothy 4:12, "Fight the Good Fight of Faith." He spoke in part as follows: We have met tonight in honor of men who have fought. Strife is many times essential to progress. The Apostle Paul was a man of robust character and forceful faith. He was neither timid nor undetermined. For him this earth was the scene of desperate conflict between good and evil, and he not only engaged in the fray with all the energy of his being, but he issued a clarion call for all men to rally to the cause of righteousness.

For six thousand years men have battled against the hurtful powers of nature and against the principle of evil in the universe. From the point of view of theology and of philosophy we may speculate, possibly to no advantage, as to the origin of evil, but we cannot deny its presence. Be the cause what it may, the fact remains that in some dark day there entered into the structure of the universe, and into the very constitution of humanity, a living principle of evil that today lifts its hateful and scornful head as cruel of nature and as diabolical of purpose as in the days of primitive man.

And humanity has fought this principle. Not all of humanity, but much of it. Some have yielded without a struggle to the enticements or the compulsion of unrighteousness, but the glory of man is that, despite the allurements of wickedness, there is always a portion of humanity that has never bowed the knee to Baal, nor been sold into the service of iniquity. No age, no matter how low has been the average personal morality, or how corrupt the public policy, has wanted men and women of the fighting character of Paul. There is always some Abraham Lincoln, some apostle of righteousness, some flaming fire of truth, to summon right-minded men to battle. And there have never been lacking volunteers to follow.

Progress By Humanity.
Humanity has made progress. At times we become discouraged, and we fear that evil is so essential an element of mankind that no hope for permanent improvement is to be found. When we scan the pages of the history of the four thousand years before the Christian era we find endless systems of government, of philosophy, and of religion. We find endless strife of good with evil, and we find little advancement; for cruel force, private uncleanliness, and public corruption, seem constantly triumphant.

But we must remember that humanity is not unaided in this struggle. Were we left alone, we might indeed turn our faces in despair. But we are not left alone. If there is a force that makes for evil, there is a power that makes for good. If there is a hell of hate, there is a heaven of hope. If there is a devil on the one side, there is a God Almighty on the other. The captain of the world's salvation is not man, but God. It is the realization of this fact that nerves good men to the fray, that inspires their devotion. All men who battle against unrighteousness are battling not only with God, but for God. It is his desire that men should be happy and that the world should be both safe and clean. And he is himself struggling for this end with all the power of his eternal righteousness. Paul, when he summons men to fight the good fight of faith is but echoing a call to battle that proceeds from the very throne of God. All men and women who love goodness and justice and truth are summoned into the war which God is waging with the evil one.

Power of Faith.
Mr. Simpson gave numerous illustrations of the power of faith in the course of the world's history, showing how faith and unselfish conflict on the part of the pioneers of progress has made possible the advancement of the last two thousand years in physical, social, moral, and spiritual attainments. The world is vastly better today, in spite of some appearances to the contrary, than it ever was in the past. And all this is the gradual outcome of the ceaseless war against evil waged by the power of God and the faith-keeping co-operation of that portion of humanity that is willing to ally itself with God. Faith is the greatest force in operation against evil, for it is the principle that maintains the conflict. If it were not for faith in the ultimate victory the soldier would despair, and the army would invite defeat. It is faith in God, and in the final triumph of righteousness, that promises complete victory over sin and every form of evil in the world.

Mr. Simpson closed the sermon with a picture of faith compared to the reserves of a great commander, that, held in readiness for the darkest hour of the battle, are hurled, in the moment of defeat, at the advancing foe, in such a manner as to eventually win the day. In such fashion will the faith of humanity, under the direction of God, bring into being a new earth, dominated by righteousness.

LEGISLATURE CANNOT PASS ALL BILLS NOW BEFORE TWO HOUSES

Only Fifteen Days Will Remain After Short Week's Session.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Springfield, Ill., May 26.—Legislation will be cut into this week by the parade in Chicago of the first contingent of the 33rd division composed of Illinois troops. Special committees from senate and house have been named to welcome the returned heroes.

The senate adjourned Saturday for the entire week, but the house will meet for as much work as possible before the program in Chicago.

Speaker Shanahan pointed out that there would be but fifteen working days after the present week before June 26, the last possible legislative day.

"It requires fourteen minutes to call the roll and dispose of a bill without debate," he said. "You can readily see that more than half of the bills now on the calendar will die." Mr. Shanahan notified the house that sessions beginning next week would start Monday afternoon, go through Saturday morning and on intervening days would be held morning, afternoon and night.

Waterway bills, which have passed the senate, are on the order of third reading in the house, and will be called up for passage at the opportune moment. They provide for a link between Lockport and Utica connecting the lakes and the gulf.

The Buck motion picture censorship bill, which got through the senate by a comfortable majority, is on the order of second reading in the house and may go through the ordeal of amendment the present week.

Bills of Senator Ettelson and Representative Dahlberg which would permit merger of the Chicago surface elevated lines, the construction of a subway system in Chicago and the purchase by cities, including Chicago, of public utilities, remain in committee. It was hoped to get hearings on these measures this week.

Friends of the public utilities "home rule" bills in both senate and house committees are planning a fight to force the measures out. Last Friday, Representative Snell gave notice that unless the "home rule" bill was reported out by June 3, he would insist that every bill on the calendar be read in full compliance with the rules. The city control bill is in the sub-committee of the house standing committee. A similar condition exists in the senate committee where the sub-committee is studying legal aspects of the home rule measure.

Chief interest the week past was in the liquor bills disposed of at a house "field day." The Anti-Saloon League measure, which passed the senate, providing stringent means of enforcing the anti-saloon laws in "dry" territory, known as the "search and seizure" or the "blind tiger" bill, was finally passed and now goes to the governor for action. The prohibition commissioner bill of Representative Rice was defeated. All "wet" measures were laid on the table on motion of Charles Curran, their sponsor.

The house last week also passed the franchise tax bill putting a tax on corporations doing business in Illinois, amounting to five cents on each hundred dollars of capital stock, and a companion bill taxing foreign insurance corporations two per cent of the gross premiums received within the preceding year.

Senator Barr's bill limiting hours of working women to nine hours a day or forty-eight hours a week, passed the senate. So did the Brady bill fixing a maximum corporate tax rate for Chicago of $2.35 and for other cities $2 without referendum.

A large number of minor measures were passed by both houses.

ENJOYED FEDERATION MEETING—

That Dixon club women are interested in matters beyond local confines was evidenced strongly by the number who attended the district federation meeting at Mt. Carroll Wednesday and Thursday of last week, and if the weather had been more favorable a much larger delegation would have gone. Those who went had a delightful time and were more than delighted with the hospitality of Mt. Carroll people and the beauty of the town and its surrounding country.

The convention was held in the Baptist church there, a most commodious edifice, especially well equipped to entertain a convention, and here luncheons and teas were served the delegates.

The Dixon delegates found old friends in Mt. Carroll, the Judge Shaw family and the Misses Tomlinson, sisters of Mrs. George Loveland, and these aided in making their stay pleasant. The Francis Shimer Academy, numbering more than a hundred girls as its students, and occupying several well-equipped and commodious buildings on a beautiful campus, furnished entertainment for the guests one evening.

Those attending from Dixon were: Miss Fannie Murphy and Mrs. Clifton H. Ives, president and delegate from the Phidian Art club, Miss Anna L. ## WOMEN'S CLUBS ACTIVE IN HELP FOR CHILDREN

By MRS. N. LA DOIT.
(Chairman of Press, Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs.)

It is beginning to be recognized that the health of children is of more importance than their mental advancement; that it is of first importance that the child be a healthy animal; that the time will soon come, when the child's physical condition will be noted on the report card with his deportment and standing in grammar; that this card will go home to the parents with suggestions from the teacher, the school doctor and school nurse, as to food and general health habits; that this health record will cover the entire school life of the child.

A nutrition class representing twenty clubs, meeting in Chicago twice a week for five or six weeks, studying the foods necessary for child growth, and some are more essential than others to make bones and teeth and strong bodies—shows how earnest women are in this matter. A pouring rain last Wednesday did not lessen the number in attendance.

Any city school can serve a glass of milk at the ten o'clock recess. Any country school can serve a bowl of hot soup at noon to help out the cold lunch. Any child be taught why milk, the leafy vegetables, and vegetables from which no water has been thrown away, are especially important for them during the growth period.

Recent school surveys show that one child in five is under weight or, as it is put, shows malnutrition. Dr. Emerson of Boston says "The existence of malnutrition in children indicates ignorance, inefficiency and failure. Adequate measures for the correction of malnutrition represent wise and constructive conservation."

new units are being moved toward the front.

The bolsheviks have massed in the Samara sector in a desperate effort to hold the grain growing section of the country, without which, by their own admission, their regime is bound to collapse. They won a minor success east of Samara, including the re-occupation of the town of Bielebei. This has been offset, however, by the gains made by Siberian forces in the direction of Viatka.

Fighting is going on in the streets of Orenburg. At Ural'sk, 210 miles southwest of Orenburg, Cossack forces, which have long been carrying on an isolated defensive, have been joined by Siberian troops and the government's position in this region has been greatly strengthened.

BOLSHEVIKI ARE ALARMED

By Associated Press Leased Wire

London, Sunday, May 25.—(Delayed)—While there is no confirmation from other sources that Nikolai Lenin, the bolshevik premier of Russia, has proposed an armistice to Admiral Kolchak, head of the anti-Russian government at Omsk, there are indications that the bolsheviks are anxious over the fate of Petrograd and Moscow. A wireless dispatch from Russia states that the defense committee of Moscow is appealing to women volunteers for military service in towns and admits that non-bolshevik troops are fighting in the outskirts of Riga on the left bank of the Dvina.

According to the Reuter correspondent with the allied forces in the Murmansk region, who reflects military views, there is no doubt that Petrograd would be useless, owing to the allies' inability to feed the population as the British line of communications is already 500 miles long, with a single line of railways. The correspondent adds that Admiral Kolchak's troops should be in Viatka in six weeks and soon afterwards should be in touch with the Archangel front. He says, once supplies from Siberia are assured, the capture of Moscow and Petrograd will follow in a short time.

FORM ALL-RUSSIAN CABINET

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Omsk, Tuesday, May 20.—(Delayed)—The work of reorganizing the cabinet of the all-Russian government is proceeding, it being intended to effect closer co-ordination with the military control and at the same time work more efficiently along the lines of the program adopted by Admiral Kolchak, former minister of justice and education, M. Starinkovitch and M. Sapozhnikov, have been succeeded by Professors Tolberg and Prokhorzhensky, who it is believed, will direct the work of the two departments to better advantage.

It is also proposed to combine the ministry of war with the general staff, under the presidency of the chief of staff, General Lebedev, who will move to Ekaterinburg, where he will be nearer the scene of operations. This ministry has in the past been recruiting and drilling of soldiers up to the point where the men were incorporated into combat units. After that time the men passed under control of the staff, an arrangement which resulted in some cases in a conflict of authority. Certain considerations regarding the provisioning and equipping of the men will also be influenced by the proposed change.

Pack Trunk Tight.

The secret of successful packing of a trunk is tight packing. The inexperienced fear of crushing gives articles room to slide and slip.

Clubs and societies, when in need of programs or booklets are asked to call at the E. F. Shaw Ptg. Co.'s job plant, see samples and get prices.

THE PROMOTER'S WIFE

By JANE PHELPS.

BARBARA'S QUESTION ANSWERED CHAPTER CIII.

The question the seer first picked was the only one I had asked in which I had vitally interested. I had purposely made the other innocuous. I turned hot then cold as I waited. Could he, and would he tell me anything worth knowing about Neil, and his business methods? I waited impatiently as he held the paper against his forehead.

"The man is not fundamentally dishonest, but he has in some way lost his perspective where business integrity and probity are the issues. He is going to have some sort of trouble, will be caused by his lack of probity in business. But I see happiness if not success for him too." That was all. He then took the other questions and answered them, some of them at much greater length than he had this one in which I was so intensely absorbed.

Robert would live to grow up, father and mother would not die for many years, etc., etc. But almost as he answered the questions I forgot what he said, so intent was my mind upon what he had said of Neil. Could it be that this man really knew anything of the future?

I asked myself this question, not realizing in the least that in my written query I had given him the answer myself.

"What did he tell you?" aunt asked excitedly as we gained the street.

"Oh, not very much." I repeated his answers to my other questions about Robert, father and mother, etc.

"But I think he told you a lot. It will make you so easy about little Robert, father and mother. But didn't you ask him a thing about Neil?"

"Oh, certainly. He said he saw happiness ahead for him." I had no intention of confiding any more.

"Well I asked him all about Neil's business. I mean of he were to be successful, and if whatever was worrying him would get straightened out. You see Neil is all the relative I have in the world, and I have been dreadfully worried about him lately," she added apologetically. "He is in some sort of trouble I am sure."

"What did he say to you?" I felt a little indignant that aunt had asked questions about Neil's business affairs, yet I was so anxious to know what she had been told I hid the resentment from her.

"He said that the man I asked about was on the verge of some trouble in his affairs. That his health was giving way under the strain; and that unless he changed his tactics he would regret it always."

I shivered with dread and apprehension. I had no way of knowing that aunt, as had I had given the information in her question. That almost anyone with a keen brain would have made the same deduction as had the man to whom we had paid ten dollars for a few minutes of his time.

"It is ridiculous for him to have talked that way. I know Neil is worried and anxious, what man as young as he who made so much money wouldn't be? But the very idea of his daring to say that Neil must change his tactics, it is almost insulting." Then after a moment's silence I added: "I hope you won't repeat that to Neil. I wouldn't let him know you had questioned the man about him or his affairs if I were you. He doesn't like anything that looks like interference, you know," I said, thinking of his wish that his aunt would go home.

"I guess I have the right to ask anything I want to. And as for interfering, it would have been better if I had done that when I first came. I am not blind bab. I know there is something queer about Neil's business affairs. I also know you are aware of it, and that it worries you, causes you great anxiety."

"I do worry," I admitted. Then anxious to disabuse her mind of any suspicion of Neil I added: "But only because of his health. Why Mr. Frederick told me only the other day that Neil was perfectly wonderful in business." I did not add: "If he used his keenness in the right direction," which had been the way Mr. Frederick had finished.

"Well Frederick is all right himself, but I am convinced Neil isn't," aunt said decidedly just as we reached home. Tomorrow Neil's Aunt is Anxious Because of His Constant Working.

ROADS AND BABIES.

It may seem a long way from good roads to better babies, and yet the two are closely connected.America has a great rural population, among which babies are being born
every day.These babies and their mothers need care, the visit of the nurse, the services of the physician, often of the surgeon,
and how are they to have it if between the miles of road impassable alike to automobile or buggy?Of what use is the little hospital at the next city, if the woman whose life depends upon its care can not be taken there swiftly and comfortably?What difference does it make that the town physician may be a very wizard at treating diphtheria, if long before he can arrive at the farm the little throat has been closed by the deadly film, or the little heart stopped by the depressant poison?Medical and surgical honors are generally claimed for the city—when as a matter of fact the country doctor is often possessed of a skill as complete as his heart is big.Make the farm accessible to the doctor and nurse, make the hospital and the health center accessible to the farm.
Nature and skill will do the rest.

SOLDIER DEAD WAIT OVERSEAS.

Not until transportation facilities are greatly improved will it be possible to bring home bodies of the American soldiers who died abroad. This is the word of Adjutant General Harris at Washington.It is not merely the question of ocean tonnage which has to be considered, but that of railway transportation in Europe as well. Railroads over there are in a much worse state of deterioration than are American roads, and every bit of car space which can be used must be reserved for the returning troops.There is a growing sentiment in favor of leaving the bodies of our lads in the great cemetery to be established in France, and it may be that by the time transportation becomes practical the great majority of those interested will have come to feel that this is the desirable thing to do.

BOXING WINS A NEW PLACE.

Among the legion of lessons taught by the Great War is the lesson of brawn
and muscle and clean strength, and the part they play in the world of men. We know now that it was not speeches and dollars and patriotic propaganda that won the war for the allies. It was, in the end, brawn—hard, cold fighting strength and endurance. Our men were trained and they were fit. They had the sticking quality.It is little to be wondered at, then, that the sport of boxing should be enjoying a new popularity and playing a revived role in affairs. This new attitude is enhanced by the particular character of the sport. Boxing does not readily lend itself to fake and to swindle and to crookedness. The unfortunate elements of horse racing and plain gambling sports are not present in well-conducted boxing bouts under proper supervision.
It has earned the right to its title—the manly sport.

JEWISH PERSECUTIONS.

In that region of chaos which is the outer edge of eastern Europe one Jewish massacre has stepped upon the heels of another massacre of Jews these several months.Consistency plays no part in the explanations or excuses made for these pogroms. Russian Bolsheviks charge
the Jews with providing aid and comfort for Ukrainian nationalists and Ukrainians work themselves up to the point of blood-letting by accusing the Jews with being in sympathy with the Bolshevik enemies. By turn Russians, Galicans, Germans, Ukrainians and Polish "irregulars" have slaughtered Jews in the border districts, the rule being apparently that whatever side is in power must go on the assumption that

ABE MARTIN

"I don't know what a feller is goin'
t' do, they give you too much in a cafe
an' not enough in a restaurant," said Pinkie Kerr, t' day. Miss Tawney Apple, ticket seller o' th' Fairy Grotto picture parlor, is layin' off t' day havin'
her bracelet welded.the Jews are against it and must necessarily be punished.While the war continued and for a few months during which government was being stabilized there was perhaps good reason for Allied inaction. But that time is passed. The Allies have the power now to bring these slaughters
to an end, power to enforce their commands along the border lines, the time to see whether or not, as claimed, the tales of pogroms consist partly of exaggeration and partly of rumor.The Jewish people in America do very well to protest against this treatment of their racial brethren. If with their vast military forces, with the club they hold as the map-makers, the Allies are unable to bring an end to the persecutions of the weak and the innocent non-combatants of eastern Europe then not much hope can be entertained for what may be accomplished through a League of Nations, working without military force.

WHY SLUMP?

An expert of the Department of Agriculture is demonstrating that an adult can live on a diet costing not more than forty cents a day by using cheap substitutes, such as oleomargarine, milk powder and dried fruits, etc., etc.Perhaps so. Also, we could reduce rent by living in caves, transportation
by walking, cost of clothing by going naked, etc., etc.It is a fact that we could greatly reduce the market cost of living by reverting to the methods of the stone age.But has the Department of Agriculture taken into account the fact that much of the attractiveness of life depends precisely on not slumping back into the stone age?Dixon bootleggers are to be investigated by the federal authorities, says a news story. Interesting, if true. The bootlegging joint has a much worse influence, so far as its influence extends, than the licensed bar.The appeal you should make to your

PEACE SUMMARY

By Associated Press Leased Wire

This week, during which it is expected that the terms of peace for German Austria will be presented to her delegates, may witness also solution of the conflicting claims of Italy and Jugo Slavia in the Adriatic area.Paris advices indicate that the conferences are taking up the problem anew.Germany's counter proposals to the allies are expected to be presented tomorrow. Up to today thirteen notes, asking modifications in the terms have been submitted and there may be several subsidiary notes still to be transmitted.Estonian forces are officially reported to have broken through the Pskov front west of Petrograd and to have captured 1,000 prisoners and much war material. Further east the forces of Admiral Kolchak of the Omsk government are approaching Viatka. It is expected that the Kolchak and northern Russian forces will soon unite and then attacks may be made on Petrograd and
Moscow.TRAINING DISABLED
SOLDIERS FOR WORKWashington, D. C., May 26.—Commercial occupations, as bookkeeping,
clerical work, stenography and telegraphy appeal to disabled men who have a good general education and who are willing to devote a few months to intensive courses of training. Positions may be secured in a reasonably short time after beginning study,
while those who are more ambitious,
with better educational background may become accountants, advertisers, secretaries, insurance salesmen, bankers or office managers by continuing their training in evening schools.More than 1,200 discharged soldiers are being trained in these courses in business schools and colleges. It is the policy of the Federal Board for Vocational Education to utilize existing schools rather than to organize new schools for the purpose which is their privilege under the Act. Many of these schools have had experience in training handicapped men and are proving valuable aids in the work with wounded
soldiers.Eliminate Word "Love"

Chicago, Ill., May 26.—The word
"love" is to be eliminated from the vocabulary used in scoring a tennis game and either plain "naught" or
"nothing" substituted, if a movement

innovation proves popular, it will be pushed in the seven states of the Western Lawn Tennis association district, it was announced by the umpire at matches of the Sherwood club.German Financial Bills Are ApprovedBy Associated Press Leased Wire
Berlin, Sunday, May 25.—(Delayed.)—
The German cabinet has approved a number of financial bills drafted by the ministry of finance, including a tax on income property, a levy on capital on the basis of the last year of war, an inheritance tax and an increase on sugar and tobacco duties.THOUGHT, FEELING, AND UTTERANCE SUBJECT OF BACCALAUREATE

Altman, since her son, Arthur, now in France, with the U. S. Army, was also a member of the class. These roses were brought in by the class at the beginning of the service and through the service they rested on the altar.

Dr. Altman's Address

Psalms 39:3: "While I was musing
the fire burned, than spake I with my tongue."This is the proper order—thought, feeling, utterance. It is the truly logical order—consideration, conviction, action. Any reversal of this method of procedure will bring confusion and regret. The Bible gives some good rules for human conduct. This is one. It emphasizes the importance of meditation upon the facts, the obtaining of knowledge before deep feeling is encouraged, or utterance or action expressed. As graduates of the public schools you will have a part in the leadership of the country. Every one is a sovereign here. It is well to exercise wisely that privilege. It is a great thing to be young and you will need to keep in mind this scriptural precept—very practical—in your attitude toward the vital problems of human experience.I—I would have you apply this principle of thought, feeling, and utterance to your moral life. The best thing about a man is his faith. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so he is." A well founded faith is the basis for the most successful career. See to it that you give first attention to your religious capabilities. You will have some kind of faith. Let it be the best. I commend the great truths of the Bible for your consideration. Muse on them. Get a clear view of them and let them get a good grip on you. The men who are directing the thought and action of the world are those under the power and influence of a great faith. They have convictions of the right kind and their utterances and actions appeal to the nobler instincts of the race. Study the teachings of the Sermon on the Mount.
No age has quite come up to them;
none will ever surpass them. Jesus Christ is the best model. Consider carefully his life and its purpose. It will help you to right feeling and more useful service. Better than he, thou never carst be. Purer than he it is impossible for thee to become. Lovelier than he thou canst not reach. He is at the summit of thy loftiest manhood. He is the measure of thy immortality. Start with the best faith obtainable and then cultivate and guard it.

I—I would have you apply this rule

—thought, feeling, action, to the choices of life. In selecting your vocation consider well the motive. You have some preparation; if possible, continue your school life. Go through college or university. Study your capabilities and the trend of your natural and acquired attainments and then wisely make your decision. Having made it, bend your energies and efforts for the best results.Use this principle of the text in the selection of companionship for life. I know advice is not usually invited on this subject, but I want to say and say it kindly and earnestly, let there be careful consideration upon this subject before life partnerships are formed. Because of neglect to give attention to this divine order, marriage is regarded by some as a failure, a lottery,
or a mere civil compact or convenience to be cancelled at will.Use this order in your attitude toward the affairs of life. We will have great problems of government to solve
in the future, questions of grave import demanding our best thought. Get all the facts you can, secure knowledge
from the best and most reliable sources and then form your judgment and dare to express it. In all your thinking keep in view the interests of the country and not simply self. Seek the good of others and thereby promote your own happiness. Be a thinker and a worker. A lazy man is of no more use in the world than a dead man and he takes up more room. There may be something in what are termed, "Luck,"
"chance," and favorable surroundings.
But the plucky man is the lucky man.
Will and work are sure to win.II.—What is often the attitude of people on these subjects mentioned? I fear too frequently, thoughtless indifference. This means a weak faith or no faith and no definite useful employment. It is a menace rather than a help in solving the great problems of government. Sometimes there is a thoughtless allegiance. This is disappointing and makes no headway, like driftwood, moving only when the stream is high. The attitude that wins is thoughtful consecration. This gives the victory in every department of human effort. This city in which you have lived has tried to prepare you for honorable citizenship. When you go home tonight, write the following note, payable on demand and put it in your desk
on file.To the city of Dixon, May 25th, 1919.
For value received I promise to pay—(And here write out some of the things duty and privilege suggest in return for the special equipment so freely granted you.)I congratulate you upon your graduation. Have a good faith. Be loyal to your country. Defend its principles. Be true to yourselves. You not only have the best wishes of your teachers and parents, but of this vast audience of friends, some inside, and many not able to get in, for your largest success.

Chicago, Ill., May 26.—Governor F.
O. Lowden and Major General George Bell, Jr., commander of the 33rd (Prairie)
division, planned to hold a confer-

for welcoming the men who are to reach here in thirteen special trains late tonight and early tomorrow.General Bell came a day ahead of his command in order to give the com-

the Chicago and Illinois organizations for obtaining jobs for returned soldiers are going to succeed splendidly."I am ready to do anything to help,"
said General Bell, "but I cannot see where I can make the job organization any better. It is perfect. I believe that re-enlisted will help solve this em-

will go back into the service after being out a month or so.General Bell will go to Camp Grant in a few days as commander.

trying to bust up the legislature by insurgent tactics, according to E. O. Phillips, staff correspondent of the Chicago Tribune at Springfield. The cause of the filibuster is said to be the desire to get a home rule bill through.In a lengthy article in Sunday's Tribune, Mr. Phillips charges that insurgent Republicans of downstate, together with a few democrats, have started filibuster tactics, which may cause the legislature to adjourn with only the appropriation bills made into laws. Mr. Phillips charges Rep. Devine with being the of the republican group.The first overt act on the part of Representative Devine, Phillips charges was last Thursday when, single-handed, he forced the reading of every sentence of the 20,000 word corporation bill, and the house marked time for seven hours.Phillips also says that Representative Snell made a threat on the floor of the house Friday that he will exercise his constitutional privilege and demand that each and every bill that comes up for consideration shall be read at

BUSH'S MOTHER PRAYS FOR MEN WHO KILLED SON

Mother of Murdered Man Writes Sheriff a Letter.

Sheriff F. A. Schoenholz this morning received a second letter from Mrs. Janie Bush, mother of George Bush, colored, who was murdered in the Northwestern yards at Nelson on the evening of Dec. 6th last. The letter:

Dear Sir:—George Bush was my unfortunate son and I am sad to say that I haven't a picture of him. He was at Ohio, but he was not discharged from there. He was discharged from Kansas on the 17th day of January, 1917. I have his discharge papers they sent me. When he left he bought a ticket for New Orleans and I haven't heard from him since.

I wish I could learn what the men killed him for. May God bless them both, especially the one that has to be hung. Please send me the details of the case. The two men must have taken advantage of poor George, my only child. I wish that I could have seen him before he died. Tell Johnson that I will pray to the good Lord to save his soul as he didn't give George a chance. I don't think. Please write me all about it or put me in touch with some one that knew about George.

JANIE BUSH.

The sheriff will forward to her all of the details of the shooting, the capture of Johnson and Lucas and the trial. The aged woman, doubtless with scanty finances, has enclosed a small amount to cover the expense of mailing papers containing a report of the shooting but this will be returned to her, together with the account of the affair.

Madden Warns Against European Alliances

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Washington, D. C., May 26.—Representative Madden, republican, of Illinois, who recently returned from Europe, in an address in the house today said he was more convinced than ever that the United States should stand aloof from entangling alliances abroad.

"It cannot be possible," Mr. Madden said, "for our people to mingle with the people there on equal terms; they do not think like we do. Invisibly border lines make it necessary for them to be watchful of each other. They are suspicious, one nation of the other, and you cannot make them otherwise."

Declaring that the league of nations "is likely to lead us into trouble," Mr. Madden said to obtain everlasting peace it was necessary for the United States to refrain from entering into any contract "that will almost certainly involve us in war."

AUSTRIANS SEEK AN EARLY PEACE

strong effort is being made by the French, British and Italians to have the treaty of 1915 of London form the basis of the settlement.

ENEMY WANTS DISARMAMENT.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berlin, Sunday, May 25.—(Delayed)—Information has been received from an unimpeachable source that the counter proposals to be made by Germany to the peace conference will declare in favor of military disarmament saying that Germany is ready to reduce her forces to 350,000 within two months after the conclusion of peace and by the expiration of another year to cut the army to 200,000 men.

It is argued that this gives adequate proof of Germany's determination to renounce all militaristic and imperialistic tendencies.

SHOULD REJECT MILITARY TERM

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Berne, May 26.—Germany should refuse to sign the military and economic terms of the peace treaty, General Count Max Montgelas, one of the German delegates at Versailles, told the correspondent of the Neueste Nachrichten of Berlin, according to a Munich dispatch received here.

He said that the military terms do not allow Germany sufficient troops to maintain order, the recent events in Berlin and Munich being cited as proof. Montgelas also said that a professional army is a grave danger from a democratic viewpoint. He added that the economic clauses would "condemn German working men to slavery."

DELEGATE CHANGES PLAN.

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Paris, May 26.—General Count Max Montgelas, one of the members of the German peace mission, who had intended to go to Berlin with Professor Weber and Herr Dietrich, other delegates, who left last night, postponed his departure at the last moment. After going to the depot he returned to Versailles in an automobile.

all in his power to get the men together at Camp Grant and bring them home as a unit.

Strong for Parade.

He reported to the Dixon committee that the boys are "strong for a parade" in the evening. There is no doubt the members of the company are proud of their organization, and they will be glad of the opportunity of showing the "home folks" how they look in formation after over two years of service.

With the boys in this country the local committee are commencing to put the finishing touches on their plans for the great welcoming reception. The carpenter work on the Triumphal Arch on Galena avenue and Second street was practically completed today and Electrician Will Cahill will tomorrow commence wiring it for scores of electric lights, after which it will be elaborately decorated.

Chairman Miller of the Welcome committee plans to go to Chicago to meet the boys the day they arrive there, at which time he hopes to be able to get something definite concerning the probable time of their arrival home. At the same time Mr. Miller will notify the many attractions he has secured for the day's celebration concerning the time of their appearance in the city.

The announcement that the Dixon boys are in several batteries has caused the members of the committee some concern, for it may be that they will be discharged on different days. Such procedure would prevent holding the celebration on the day the first contingent arrives home, making it necessary to postpone the reception and festivities until the last unit in which the Dixon men are enrolled is given its release.

It is stated by the committee that the celebration will be held just as soon as it is possible for all of the old militiamen of the community to participate.

CAMPBELL FAVORS HELP IN CEMETERY

Commissioner George Campbell this morning stated that he greatly appreciated the suggestion made by a citizen in Saturday evening's issue of The Telegraph in which it was suggested that citizens donate their services in trying to make Oakwood cemetery thoroughly presentable for Decoration day.

"I am doing all within my power to bring the cemetery up to that standard that should be maintained," said the commissioner. "But recent rains have hindered the work greatly and there has been some trouble in securing labor. I wish to state to the citizens of Dixon that I heartily appreciate the suggestion made by one of our representative business men in Saturday evening's issue of The Telegraph and will co-operate with them in this work. The cemetery lots should be moved and put in condition for Decoration day and the public can greatly assist in this work."

EXPECT MEETING TO BE ELKS' LARGEST

SUGAR GROVE CHURCH SCENE OF IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL SUNDAY P.M.

Hon. Henry R. Rathbone
Delivered Palmyra
Memorial.

The memorial services held at the Sugar Grove church Sunday afternoon were among the most impressive ever held in that community, where once each year the people of Palmyra gather to pay devout tribute to those of their men and boys whose names are enrolled among the nation's heroes. The program, which was listened to attentively by an audience which filled the church to capacity, was given as published in The Telegraph, the feature being the address by Hon. Henry R. Rathbone, of Chicago. Following the exercises in the church a short memorial ritual was held in the cemetery, a firing squad from Company F, in command of Sgt. Swingle, firing a salute at the conclusion of the service.

Mr. Rathbone's address was masterful in every way and thrilled his hearers with an appreciation what the departed had done for their native land. He said:

Fellow-Citizens:

We have met here today to pay a fitting tribute to the honored dead. We stand at the last resting place of one who was known and honored as a judge, a lawyer, and a man, not only in his own county of Lee, but throughout the state of Illinois and the nation. Judge Betha was a man whom any community should be proud to have produced. He had that rare balance of high qualities, which should characterize every citizen of the judicial branch. He had justice without vindictiveness, courage without rashness, action without timidity, patience without dilatoriness, friendship without favoritism, ambition without selfishness.

As one who knew him and who had appeared before him in his court on numerous occasions, I welcome this opportunity to pay this tribute to his memory.

We have also assembled to honor the memory of those who gave their lives in the cause of liberty and union. It is highly fitting that we should keep the remembrance of their heroism and devotion forever bright. They drove out the evil spirit of slavery which had long been rending this nation and urging it with blind fury along a rocky path. Slavery had been implanted among us from the beginning and had grown with our growth and strengthened with our strength.

The Pilgrims were the apostles of liberty. They founded a state on the broad basis of civil and religious freedom. The Mayflower brought renewed hope for all men, but the slave ship followed with despair for millions. The deadly nightshade of slavery was planted beside the massive oak of freedom.

The Declaration of Independence announced to the world the sublime truths, "that all men are created equal" and "that government derives its just powers from the consent of the governed"—yet slavery remained. That declaration was made good by our fathers' blood and we became, as we proudly proclaimed, a nation of freedom—yet slavery remained. And when we came to the final adoption of the constitution, slavery was condemned, slavery was opposed by the wisest and best, who were ashamed to permit its name to blot a single page of that magnificent document—yet slavery remained. Our fathers longed, yes, fervently prayed for its speedy extinction, but in vain.

"Where snow falls there is freedom." Slavery was driven from the North, but continued to flourish in the South. Its effects were soon visible. Two distinct civilizations, two fabrics of society with different principles, different ideals, different ends and aims grew up side by side, beneath the same flag.

Such differences of mind and heart brought about misunderstandings, for like alone can comprehend like. And this as an inevitable consequence led to coldness, estrangement, jealousy, recrimination and finally to strife. As the crisis grew near the forces of freedom gradually ranged themselves over against the United forces of slavery. At length the impending war clouds, that lowered black above and darkened all the land, not with a sudden crash that reverberated around the world. The flag of the first cannon fired at the flag illuminated all the scene and pathway of duty which had heretofore been shrouded in darkness, lay clear before the nation's eyes. Then at last the North knew that the life struggle of the nation had come.

For four long years the red tide of battle surges back and forth over the land. Through the dismal swamps of the Chickohominy the army of freedom struggles up to the very walls of Richmond and then the tide surges back again, till the proud waves of southern invasion are staid on the banks of the Antietam. At the deadly crossing at Fredericksburg the starry banner is borne in the face of the buzzing swarm of bullets that come from the unseen foe, across the river and up the heights ablaze with the lightnings of war. What heroism could do was done, but the appointed time had not yet arrived.

Not then, nor in the terrible carnage of Shiloh or Chancellorsville could the nation read the doom of the confederacy. But when the iron soldier of Illinois had drawn the human python coil ever tighter and tighter around Vicksburg and made good his famous demand of "unconditional surrender," when Pickett's last desperate charge had swept up the green hillside of Gettysburg, only to dash itself into spray upon the union line of rock, then we knew that "government of the people, by the people and for the people, should not perish from the earth."

Vicksburg and Gettysburg were the nation's twin stars of hope. They not only dealt the forces of disunion a mortal blow, but they gave us, what we had long sought for, a leader, a general, the man for the hour—Ulysses S. Grant.

Honor to him, who inspired our armies with fresh vigor, and our people with renewed confidence, whose iron will never relaxed, whose clear, cool brain was equal to every emergency, who in the midst of triumphs was always the same plain man of the plain people, "great in saving common sense, and as the greatest only are in his simplicity sublime," whose only thought and aim, as general or as president, was to serve his country, and who "never had any policy to enforce against the will of the people," terrible to an armed, but generous, beyond all precedent, to a vanquished foe—honor to such a man! As long as the republic he helped to save shall endure, as long as the enemies he helped to make brothers again stand hand in hand by a common country, we shall revere the memory and prolong the fame of Ulysses S. Grant.

Under his leadership our armies went forth to conquer. There were days of toil, of privation, of untold suffering, of frightful slaughter, but there was not a single hour of retreat. After the terrible struggle of the wilderness, where so many had laid down their lives, it seemed that Grant, like those who had preceded him, must fall back. But the fate of the confederacy was sealed and the salvation of the Union assured. When on the next morning, he uttered those words, simple, but big with destiny—"Forward, by the left flank, march!"—and the serried columns swept on to Spottsylvania, to Cold Harbor, to Petersburg, to Richmond and to Appomattox.

Then beneath that famous apple-tree he displayed a magnanimity that was equal to the firmness of his will and the glory of his victories. He did not receive the greatest general of the greatest of rebellions as a vanquished alien, he did not haughtily accept in the face of the assembled armies the proffered sword of Lee, but with ample generosity he sent his prisoners, one and all, back to their homes and families, with no condition but that they would not again bear arms against their country.

This action of Grant's is worthy to be placed beside those beautiful words of Lincoln, which breathe the very spirit of brotherhood, conciliation and mercy itself—"We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory stretching from every battle-field and patriotic grave to every loving heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will swell the chorus of the Union when again touched as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature."

Never in all history has forgiveness followed so close upon the deadliest strife, never has any people exhibited such grand forbearance to a fallen foe. Such magnanimity has brought its own reward. Today all over this mighty land, from the surf-beaten cliffs of Maine to the expanding arms of the Golden Gate, and from the calm, polished street of the Columbia, to the pine-shaded swamps of Florida, there waves in sole and unapproachable glory but one flag and that is our own starry banner of the Union.

But in the midst of our rejoicing let us not forget those who gave their lives that this Union might endure. Today we have gathered from far and near to honor their memory. Wealth erects the most magnificent sepulchres to those who in their lives have done nothing to merit any, and inscribes eulogies which describe the dead, not as he was, but as he should have been. How many a fallen statue, how many a defaced epitaph, how many a nameless pyramid, declare the impotence of stone to immortalize a name which men do not love and cherish.

They only deserve a monument who need none. What if our heroes, fallen in the cause of liberty, sleep in unknown graves or with only a rude headstone to mark the spot? They have erected for themselves a monument in the heart of the nation more enduring than bronze, more stainless than the Parian marble, more grand than the most imposing work of the sculptor's hand, more fond than the wild flowers and ivy that cluster about and embrace the headstones of their quiet graves.

Their labors are o'er; they dream of battle-fields no more, day of danger, nights of waking. They sleep "where heaves the sod in many a mouldering heap" on the grassy hillside in the sunlight, or cradled in the clouds of Look-out mountain. They sleep in the tangled wilderness amid the blasted pines, beneath the forests' valuated arches, where sombre festoons of southern mosses seem ever to mourn. They sleep in their native soil, in the silent cemetery, row upon row of glistening stones, a great army of witnesses to the heroism and devotion of the nation. And thither the love of a great people shall make its yearly pilgrimage. There shall be placed the red, white and blue, the colors that those hearts, that new life cold beneath, had loved so well. And there shall unnumbered blossoms fall and with every bud a blessing.

"They fell devoted, but undying;
The very gale their names seemed sighing;
The waters murmured of their name;
The woods were peopled with their fame;
The silent pillar, lone and grey,
Claimed kindred with their sacred clay;
Their spirits wrapped the dusky mountain,
Their memory sparkled o'er the fountain;
The meaneast rill, the mightiest river,
Rolled mingling with their fame forever."

America looks upon the stately mansions of power, the mighty cities with their cathedrals, domes and theatres and all the triumphs of the sculptor's and the builder's art, which beautify and enoble our land, but then she turns to those quiet graves and their rows of simple headstones glistening white in the sunlight and exclaims: "These are the richest treasures of all, these are my jewels."

Honor to these heroic dead, but honor also to the heroic living! I see before me those who have passed through the fiery ordeal of war and who are alive to behold the happiness and glory of the land they saved from disruption and from the taint of slavery. The snows of age are on many a head, but the fires of patriotism are yet ablaze in every heart. O, noble souls! How can thank you enough for all that you have done? How can we express our "debt of endless gratitude, still paying, still to owe?"

There is but one way in which we, the younger generation, can properly evince our appreciation of your noble work. It is for us to encounter and solve the great problems of the present, with the same courage, the same wisdom, the same patriotism which you have faced and surmounted the trials of the past.

To fight the battle of today with the same courage made the heroes of 1861 victorious. We must prove ourselves patriots as they did.

Patriotism is the cement which holds the national edifice together. It is the spirit which unifies, solidifies, vitalizes what would else be a mass of inert scattered units.

It is to any nation the very breath of its life. Without the spirit of patriotism armies are but a rabble, navies, but helpless hulks, fortifications useless and dollars but an incitement to hostile aggression. It is the spirit of unselfishness in the individual looking and working towards the common good.

It is the morality of politics, the religion of citizenship.

The true patriot is a step higher than a man; he is a true citizen—a citizen in spirit as well as in name.

The flag has a message of unity for all of us. It represents all our people, north and south, east and west, the descendants of every race and clime, who have come here to make their homes and be true and loyal American citizens.

The flag represents all of our country. It is the rich plains, the majestic rivers, the mighty forests, the teaming cities, the sublime mountains, the whole of our country.

The flag of our country. We love it as it waves above the tramping hosts of war, about the mighty floating fortresses of battleships that guard our coasts. We love it too as it floats above the school-house, the court-house, the home. It speaks to us of wife, of parents, of child, of friend, of all the domestic virtues, of all the gentle ties that bind us to this land. It speaks to us, too, of all these things that make us most proud of our country; of all the grandest heroism and self-sacrifice. On its ample folds there is no stain except the blood of the brave men who have died in its defense.

All honor to the flag for it is now and forever the hope of the world.

BIGGEST SALOON IN WORLD CLOSES DOORS

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Bridgeport, Ohio, May 26.—The biggest saloon in the world went out of business today when Ohio became dry under an amendment to the state constitution.

It is located in this little city of 4,200 souls, just across the Ohio river from Wheeling, W. Va. It is owned and operated by Sam Ungerleider.

The saloon employs seventy-seven bartenders and clerks and has 216 feet of bar. For the past year or two its average daily bank deposits have been $5,000, or $1,500,000 a year. The saloon has made Bridgeport one of the show places of the big valley.

Ungerleider is 36 years of age. He is a millionaire and says he never smoked or drank intoxicating liquor. He estimates that since 1915 approximately 20,000 drinks a day have been sold over his bar. He also claims there has never been a fight in his saloon. He attributes this largely to the fact that he would not sell to a drunken man or a minor.

In addition to owning the world's biggest saloon, Ungerleider is a banker, manufacturer, mine owner, oil man, hotel owner and vice president of a street railway company at Columbus, Ohio.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the Motorist

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana), as a public servant, interprets its obligation to the 2,000,000 motorists in the territory it serves as reaching beyond simply supplying them with gasoline and lubricating oils.

The Company feels that it falls short of its full duty, if in the manufacture of gasoline and lubricating oils the elements of economy, efficiency, dependability, and protection are not inherent in every gallon.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) requires of its products, that, in addition to furnishing dependable power and lubrication the car investment of the motorist must be protected—his repair bills must be minimized—the life of the car must be prolonged.

Every frictional surface must be conserved. The engine must respond instantly in emergencies. The motorist must get every possible mile out of every gallon of Standard Oil gasoline which he buys.

To make these products as available to the 5-gallon buyer as to the 500- or 5000-gallon buyer, the Company maintains 1300 service stations conveniently located throughout the territory.

The Company realizes that its interests and those of the motorist are a unit—tangible and concrete.

Intelligent self-interest impels the Company to safeguard every product it manufactures and distributes that it may at all times give to the motorist the utmost of value and service.

An Internal Treatment for Piles (Hemorrhoids)

Gives absolute relief from all pain and suffering. Has never failed. Guaranteed.

Many people have become despondent because they have been led to believe that their case was hopeless and that there was no remedy for their case.

Go to your druggist and get an original bottle of Miro Pile Remedy, the discovery of a clever Ohio chemist, that taken internally, passes unchanged through the stomach and intestines, and thus reaches the source of the trouble where, by its soothing, healing, antiseptic action, it first allays and then by direct contact with the ulcers and piles causes them to heal and disappear forever.

It's positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Blessed relief often comes in two or three days, even in cases that have resisted all previously known treatments. Really wonderful results have been accomplished. It is one of the wonderful discoveries of recent years and anyone who is disappointed with its use can have their money refunded.

All pharmacists dispense Miro or can get it for you on short notice. Surely it is worth the little trouble to obtain to be rid of piles forever.

IMPORTANT—What is known as itching piles are not piles in the true sense of piles. For this condition Miro Pile Ointment has been prepared as in such cases it is not necessary to take the internal prescription. If your druggist cannot supply you we will gladly send either of the above mail charges prepaid on receipt of price. Internal Treatment $1.50 War Tax 2c extra. Guaranteed Remedies Co., Elvira, Ohio.

Diver Causes Panic Aboard River Boat

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Burlington, Ia., May 26.—Leonard Johnson, aged 17, of Burlington, to win a $2 bet jumped from the second deck in the stern of the excursion steamer St. Paul in mid-stream yesterday evening at 8 o'clock, opposite Dallas City, Ill. He is an expert swimmer and easily kept afloat until rescued by the boat crew.

But his plunge caused a panic among the 3,000 excursionists who rushed to the stern. A portion of the deck collapsed and the railings broke. Some one then shouted that the boat was sinking and passengers fought for life preservers. At one time when a rush was made for the side of the boat on which Johnson could be seen swimming, the big paddle wheel on the opposite side was completely out of the water and only the great breadth of the craft prevented it from capsizing.

Johnson was arrested and his case will be investigated by the federal authorities.

A dance will be given by the young people of the cast at Rosbrook's hall after the performance.

Chicago, May 26.—Members of the legislative committee investigating Zion City learned today that Wilbur Glenn Voliva, general overseer of the Christian Catholic Apostolic church has filed suit for $225,000 against five residents of Zion City who recently issued a pamphlet entitled: "A Black Spot on the Map of Illinois," in which Voliva is severely criticized.

The legislative investigating committee which was scheduled to resume its hearing here today will not meet until Chairman Dieterich has received an opinion from Attorney General Brundage as to the best method of proceeding to compel the attendance of several Zion City officials who have been subpoenaed.

GENERAL SELLING BRINGS PRICE OF CORN SOME LOWER

By Associated Press Leased Wire
 Chicago, May 26.—General selling induced by favorable weather for plowing and planting brought about declines today in the corn market. The trade was also expecting much larger receipts in the near future. Reports of a thirty per cent decrease of corn acreage in Kansas operated, however, as something of an offset. Opening prices, which ranged from 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower, with July 1.61½ to 1.62 and Sept. 1.54 to 1.55½, were followed by a moderate rally.

Oats paralleled the action of corn. After opening 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower with July 66½ to 67½, the market sagged a little more but then recovered.

Provisions were weak in sympathy with grain and hogs. Pork led the decline.

Later a big decrease of the visible supply total counted as a bullish factor, and there was a decided upward swing in prices. The market closed 1/4 to 1/2 cent higher, with July 1.65½ to 1.65½ and Sept. 1.57½ to 1.58.

Suffrage-Prohibition is Carried in Texas

By Associated Press Leased Wire
 Dallas, Tex., May 26.—Returns from more than one-half the state today show that the election Saturday amendments to prohibit liquor and extend suffrage to women probably carried. The vote was:
 Prohibition—For, 56,695; against, 47,142.
 Suffrage—For, 55,153; against, 51,838.

Law of Compensation.

The law of compensation is, even in these wonderful modern days, very much in evidence. Most of us—in fact, all of us—receive from the world just what we give to it. Smiles and happy words will fall from other lips to us if we ourselves play the same role; but if we are too busy or too "big" to practice those little courtesies we should not be surprised to see only frowns on the faces we meet.

Try to Be Agreeable.

We should wisely cultivate the art of being agreeable, not only in the company of our business associates or those persons whom we meet socially but in our own homes as well. By thus deporting ourselves we shall find life more pleasant and people in general—the home folks in particular—more considerate. On the other hand, if we continue to think only of ourselves we shall find life a trying affair.—Exchange.

Awful to Think Of.

The whale is said to yield a barrel of milk at a milking. But what happens to the milk if she gets careless with her tail?

Who Founded Jerusalem?
 Origin and early history are obscure. It was identified by Josephus with Salem, a city whose king some thirty-five centuries ago was Melchisedech, a Chaldean. The city did not pass completely to possession of the Jews until the time of David.

Differing Fears.

When it is a man getting a set of false teeth, he is afraid he is not going to be able to eat with them; if it is a woman, she is afraid she will not be able to talk.

Cairo Man Admits he Bought Negro Votes

By Associated Press Leased Wire

East St. Louis, Ill., May 26.—Charles O. Patier, a wholesale merchant of Cairo, Ill., pleaded guilty in federal court here today to buying votes in the Illinois senatorial election last November and was fined $1,000. Patier, who was chairman of the Alexander county republican central committee, was charged with having paid $1 to each of a number of negroes to vote the republican ticket.

An investigation of the irregularities was urged by J. Hamilton Lewis, democrat, who was defeated in the election by Medill McCormick.

Repentant Patsy.

Minnie and her little dog, Patsy, were playing in the kitchen. Minnie's mamma was cooking supper and stumbled over Patsy, causing her to drop an egg on the freshly scrubbed floor. She put Patsy out on the porch and seated Minnie in a corner. In a few moments Patsy scratched on the door and began barking. Minnie said to her mother: "Mamma, can Patsy come in now? He's sorry. Don't you hear him 'pologizing'?"

Rugby Football.

At the famous school of Rugby, England, originated that form of football, now bearing the name of the school. An inscription, at Rugby reads: "This stone commemorates the exploit of William Webb Ellis, who, with a fine disregard for the rules of football, as played in his time, first took the ball in his arms and ran with it, thus originating the distinctive feature of the rugby game. A. D. 1823."
